TASK CARD

DECEMBER 2020

Teaching in the Online Classroom: Surviving and Thriving in the New Normal*

by Doug Lemov

- » Read the sections on “Dissolving the Screen” and “Pause Points.”
- » What are techniques that have worked for you to “Dissolve the Screen”?
- » Respond to the idea of using “Pause Points,” strategically throughout the lesson to do four things:
 - » to build a culture of cognitive engagement;
 - » to allow for formative thinking;
 - » to check for understanding;
 - » to provide an opportunity to consolidate learning into memory via retrieval practice.
- » Are you using pause points currently? If so, how often? If not, can they be worked in to your teaching?
- » Share your thoughts and experiences during your next coaching session and on the prompt on our Facebook page the week of 1/25/21.

*Please note that because this book is a new release page numbers are not available.
